Subject: Contaminated Drinking Water

I am very disturbed about the EPA granting the Navy permission to pollute drinking water on Whidbey Island in Washington State. Your duty is to protect the citizens of our country against harm. Pollution in our waters has no place in a country that protects its citizens. There are documented toxins PFOAs and PFOSs that have long term health effects and that are life threatening. There are also additional toxins discovered that the community has not had a chance to investigate.

The Navy is working to save money but must be prevented from cutting costs by being allowed to pollute our drinking water.

Please rethink this permit and give the citizens you are supposed to protect an opportunity to speak through a public comment period.

Thank you,
Deborah Wright
